Director, Intelligence and Research
Department of State
Washington, DC 20520

Dear Mort:

I want to thank you, both on behalf of STAP and personally, for taking time to have dinner with the Panel during our meeting this week. I promised the members a lively dinner guest and you made me look like a prophet.

STAT The relationship between technology and policy is surely among the most difficult areas to define precisely. I'm not sure the Panel was able to pin it down for you, but I am certain that discussions such as we had are the only way to get there eventually. With luck, we may also see some tangible results from your exchange with [] in the proliferation quarter.

STAT Again, let me thank you. I know you must be living with a heavy schedule, but the Panel benefited from your willingness to sit down and talk.
